This holiday, as for every Honeyguide holiday, also puts something into conservation in our host country by way of a contribution to the wildlife that we enjoyed. The conservation contribution this year of £25 per person, £225, was given to the young ornithologists group in Tulcea, Falco cherrug (the saker falcon). This brings the total given to the Romanian Ornithological Society (SOR) since 1999 to £2225, and to various conservation projects in Europe to £33,330 since the start of Honeyguide in 1991. A thank-you letter from SOR appears at the end of this report.

Danubian Delights

Group member Mike Freer wrote this article for the Norwich RSPB local group newsletter, and is included here with the group's kind permission.

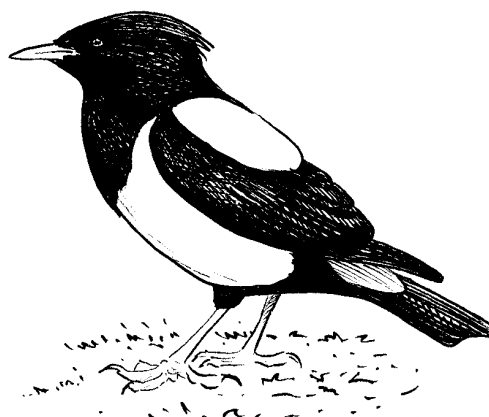

“The three best places in Europe for birding,” a veteran birder assured me some time ago, “are Extremadura (Spain), the Danube Delta (Romania) and the area around Paphos (Cyprus).”

This year I've visited the first two and, as a friend has very conveniently bought a house in Paphos, I've no doubt birding in Aphrodite's Isle will be scheduled soon – in spite, I admit, of my dislike of the Cypriot's love of shooting.

Extremadura was recently well described in the newsletter by our epistolary Membership Secretary, but the quantity (and quality) of bird life in the Danube Delta is possibly superior: anyway, it's quite stupendous.

Visits centre on Tulcea - 150 miles north-east of Bucharest - where the Danube divides into three major channels as well as a host of minor waterways, man-made canals, marshes, lakes and swamps. It is an area of 5640 km² with 2700 km² of reeds - the world's largest unbroken stand. Cley and Salhouse marshes together total just 31.2 km².

The party I was with spent the first few days land-based around Tulcea finding such British list rarities as Red-breasted Flycatcher, Paddyfield Warbler, Collared Pratincole, Pied Wheatear, Rose-coloured Starling (right), Ortolan Bunting, Lesser Grey Shrike (the commonest roadside bird), Tawny Pipit, Crested and Short-toed Larks. Species unknown here in the UK included Middle Spotted Woodpecker and Sombre Tit. Nearly all of the above were easily seen, and in large numbers. Telescopes provided good views of Caspian and Gull-billed Terns alongside breeding colonies of Little and Mediterranean Gulls.

For the remainder of the time we lodged in the Romanian owned Ibis Tours floating hotel, and very comfortable it was too. Cabins were basic, perhaps, but both food and service were first class. This pontoon was towed to convenient rendezvous for the small launch which cruised different waterways for us each day, providing marvellous close views, in fantastic numbers, of White and Dalmatian Pelicans, Black-necked and Red-necked Grebes, Pygmy Cormorant, Little Bittern, Night, Squacco and Purple Herons, Spoonbill, Glossy Ibis (below), Red-crested Pochard, Ferruginous Duck and Garganey. To easily see dozen strong flocks of the last (all male) was a delight, remembering what a 'difficult' bird this is in Britain. An unexpected bonus on a lake with Black, White-winged Black, and Whiskered Terns was a pair of Smew. According to our excellent Romanian Guide, Eugen Petrescu, they were almost certainly breeding.

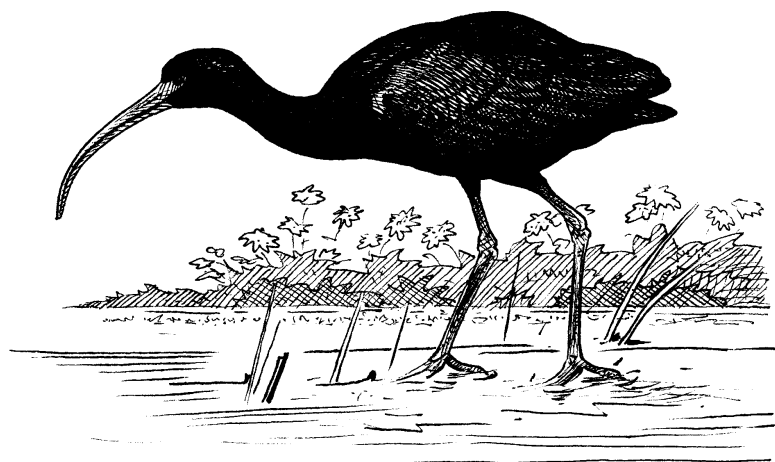

Raptors were well represented both around Tulcea and over the delta with Saker and Red-footed Falcons, Levant Sparrowhawk and White-tailed Eagle perhaps providing the greatest pleasure though there were almost daily sightings of Honey and Long-legged Buzzards, Booted Eagle and Hobby. We were sometimes 'inspected' by Black, Grey-headed and Syrian Woodpeckers – again amazingly close sightings from the floating hotel.

A visit such as this is an experience, not just for birders. Ibis provided a guide (another Petrescu ... Mihai) who was an expert botanist and geologist who also had a tip-top knowledge of Romanian culture and history. It was intriguing to be told that a village was first settled by Greeks while other villages in the area are mainly Gypsy or Turkish. Within a few miles of the black sea we visited the marsh-surrounded settlement of Letea. Small timber houses, each with individual wooden devil-chasing charms over every door, either side of the 500 metre ankle-deep, sandy main street over which farm carts trundled to and from the adjacent fields. Absolutely Tolstoyan! It was no surprise to find that Letea was originally a Ukrainian settlement.

A well-known Norwich birder pessimistically warned me about Danubian mosquitoes. Of course visitors must be prepared for them, but all I can say is that I wasn't bitten once and the only noxious insects I saw were hanging on the wire window-screens around 10 pm. Any such mosquitoes kindly disappear by first light. One morning, with the hotel anchored alongside a gigantic reed-bed, I arose at six and remained motionless for half-an-hour listening for, locating and eventually seeing a Savi's Warbler about ten feet from the pontoon: no sign of a mossie!

My visits to Spain and Romania were both organized by Norwich's own Honeyguide Wildlife Holidays - run by Norwich's own Chris Durdin. I believe in supporting local industry!

Dear Chris Durdin and Honeyguide tourists,

Every year your generous support helps us to develop constant and fruitful ecological education activities.

All the ROS-Falco Cherrug members thank you for your financial support, field guides, and binoculars.

Thanks to your help, more and more young people from Tulcea and Danube Delta have the chance to learn about birds, plants, reptiles, amphibians and butterflies.

This way they become interested in protection and conservation of biodiversity of this area.

This year we will organize:

- The Ornithology Camp in Danube Delta and Vadu (near Sinoe lagoon and seashore).
- The first stage of the camp will be in the Danube Delta and the second stage will be at Vadu (in the south of the Chituc levee and Black Sea lagoons). The young participants will have the chance to observe the birds, plants, and to have a real image of Delta's and lagoon's wildlife. More than that, they can realize how fragile this ecosystems are if we are not friendly with them. So we will also have an ecological aim: to clean the surroundings of the camp of plastic wastes.
- The Monitoring of Raptors Migration in Macin Mountains.
- We will monitor the migration of raptors in Macin Mountains for few days at the beginning of September, and all the others gliding species of birds (storks, pelicans, Crane, Glossy Ibis, and Spoonbill). In this camp the young people will learn and understand the importance of the raptors in the ecosystems and also our data will contribute to the conservation of these species in Europe.

We hope we will finish these camps successfully. We will inform you about our results. We thank you again for your great help in our ecological education work.

Sincerely yours,

Prof.Gabriela Dorosencu,
President of Falco Cherrug—ROS Tulcea Branch

Eugen Petrescu
ROS-Danube Delta Conservation Officer
